

Chai Pe Charcha – Connecting with Students’ Mothers

Newgen Digital Discovery Paathshala (NDDP) held an online interactive session with the students’ mothers to give a glimpse of the program’s journey over the last year. Over 500 students attended the session and the mothers appreciated the efforts being made to improve the life of their children. They shared how digital education has benefitted them as well.

Here’s what some of the mothers had to say:

“Nandini learned how to use the digital device provided by the NDDP and then taught me to operate my phone and navigate through videos to learn new techniques of stitching. Now I can use a smartphone easily, record videos, and share with my friends to teach them.”

“NDDP sessions have given us hope that the education of my girl will not be affected.”

“NDDP sessions have really helped Snigdha to improve her public speaking and typing skills. The best part is, I do not have to worry about the misuse of the device as NDDP has provided proper parental protection.”

“The NDDP device is helping Mansi and her siblings to continue their studies while at home. I also make sure that they regularly attend all the classes.”
