

NDDP Debates Go Online

The NDDP debate competition “The War of Minds 2.0” was conducted online in the month of May and June. The topics ranged from social evils, like the caste system, to topics that have a positive social impact, including the significance of mothers' education for children's education and the importance of digital education. Students participated in large numbers. They were sincere and enthusiastic in their participation and thoroughly enjoyed the session.

Here are a few wonderful quotes by our participants.

“Girls' education is the only weapon to achieve national integration and greater cultural and economic progress.” – Arfi, Harkesh Nagar (expressed for the motion)

“Mothers' are the foundation of a family. An uneducated mother cannot gain economic income, but she can teach priceless lessons of life.” – Shubhangi, Tekhand School (expressed against the motion)

“There is no Guru as a mother.” – Ranjana, Harkesh Nagar School (expressed for the motion)

“First encouragement and life lessons come from a mother.” – Muskan, Harkesh Nagar (expressed against the motion)

“Digital education is very convenient and flexible, and we need only one device for every subject.” – Vidya Laxmi, Harkesh Nagar School (expressed for the motion)

“Virtual classes have led to a lack of social cohesion due to no face-to-face contact.” – Ariba, Harkesh Nagar (expressed against the motion)
