

News is a great source to learn about global current affairs and prepare for the future. With the effort of the NDDP students, a new segment called “NDDP News Reader” has been initiated.

During NDDP online sessions, a student is chosen to be the newsreader for the day. The student presents the news bulletin through a presentation containing the top five news items from India and around the world that happened in the previous week. The news items could be about any topic, including politics, environment, education, technology, research, development, etc. The students create a PowerPoint presentation for the news bulletin by researching on their own. NDDP acknowledges this as a crucial activity that helps students pursue an in-depth original study about a topic that interests them. The presentations created by students are highly informative and contain a deep analysis of every selected news item.

NDDP students are digitally equipped to easily navigate through the internet to research news items from across the globe. These sessions also assist the progress of the students by improving their communication skills and increasing their self-esteem. The sessions are further helping our students become more confident and expressive in public speaking, ensuring that the NDDP students will excel in various areas of life in the future.

Newgenites can also participate in the online sessions for an incredible and inspiring experience by simply contacting the Newgen CSR team!
